Local Family Doctor Attends National Medical Meeting

KANSAS CITY, MO.--Dr. Janet Kelly, Heber City, is attending the Annual Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) October 9-12 in Kansas City. Some 3,000 family physicians from around the country are expected to participate in this continuing medical education conclave.

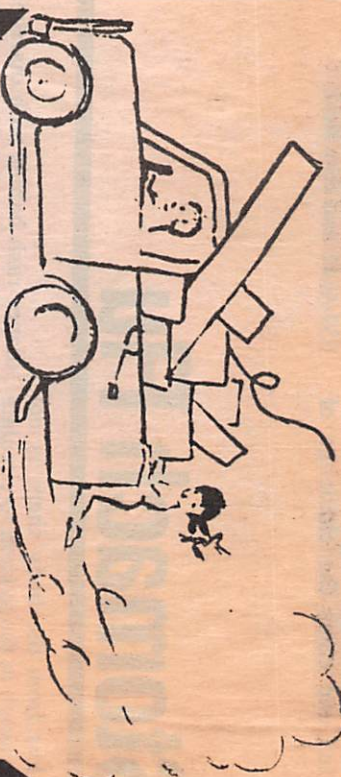

The local physician, an AAFP member, will hear renowned speakers discuss health care topics of immediate interest to family doctors both in their everyday practices and in their continual endeavors to keep abreast of the latest advances in medicine. The topics include premenstrual syndrome, treatment of childhood cancer, first baby after 30 and preventive medicine. She also will have an opportunity to attend clinical seminars on 28 different topics and visit more than 50 scientific and 540 technical exhibits.

The American Academy of Family Physicians, headquartered in Kansas City, is the national association representing the country's family doctors. It was the pioneer among medical organizations in requiring its members to take continuing medical education. Its 57,000 members must complete 150 hours of mandatory continuing study every three years.

Prior to the scientific meeting, Dr. Kelly took part in the annual meeting of the AAFP's Congress of Delegates, the official policymaking body of the organization. The group met October 7-9. Each of the 54 constituent chapters elects two delegates and two alternates (to serve in the absence of a delegate) to the Congress of Delegates. Dr. Kelly serves as an alternate delegate.
